What Would You Do?

Would You Tear Down, or Shoot Beast, Hire Oil Derrick, or Call Out Marines?

Yukon, Okla., Feb. 25 (AP)—Hi Diddle Diddle, the Cat and the Fiddle, the Cow jumped into the Sile.

And Bill Mach ain't a laughin'. He's gotta get her out.

It was a black day Tuesday at the Mach Ranch south of here. The cow—a 1400-pound pure bred Hereford worth $1,000—was sick. The vet came and treated her. When it was all over they untied bossy and let her go.

She went—for Mach.

Mach is no matador but he jumps fast. The cow's horn ripped his shirt pocket as she thundered by.

When Mach opened his eyes—no cow.

"I looked at the hired man and I looked at the Doc," said Mach. "They were standing with their mouths open."

Mach's jaw dropped too when they showed him.

The cow had jumped through a tiny feed door into the silo. It measured just 17 by 23 1/2 inches. That's roughly the size of a newspaper page.

And you know what a cow is. There could be no doubt. There was the cow in the concrete silo. There were a few red

Judge Determined To Start Trial

Medina Warns Attorneys Excessive Arguments Out in Red Case

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Federal Judge Harold R. Medina today took new measures to shut off excessive argument by defense attorneys in the conspiracy trial of 11 U. S. Communist leaders.

Indicating he expected to end soon the defense challenge to the federal jury system which has delayed start of the actual trial six weeks, Judge Medina said the attorneys should indicate no more argument on motions or objections unless he wanted to hear it.

He made the announcement as he took the bench, and added he had in mind other methods to shorten the proceeding which he would announce later.

"I have formulated in my mind ways to bring this challenge to a close," Medina said. "I will hear no more arguments or motions or objections except where I indicate a desire to hear such arguments."

The judge, who repeatedly has accused the defense of stalling, said yesterday he hoped to find some way to get the "main trial" started soon.

Nearly all of the time so far has been consumed in a defense effort to prove the federal jury-picking system here is discriminatory. Preliminary proceedings in the case enter the 25th day today.

To forestall what he said might be "interminable delays," the judge yesterday denied a defense motion asking that most of the records of the federal jury clerk be produced in court.

Medina said the data in the documents already was in evidence.

He rejected the arguments of defense Attorney Abraham J. Iserman that further study of the records would show various groups are "systematically excluded" from jury service.

The defense seeks to void the indictment against the Communists by showing that the grand jurors which returned it, as well as trial jury panels, are chosen under a system which does not

Both Sides Believe Differences Will Be Settled Soon

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25 (AP)—Governor Dewey has defied insurgent Republicans in their demands that he propose "compromises" to reduce his recommended $936,200,000 budget.

It was learned today that Dewey had flatly rejected a request that he take the initiative in finding reductions in his budget and proposed $168,200,000 tax boost.

The request came from a leader of the current revolt against the Governor's record-high spending and taxing program.

Dewey's refusal backed up his oft-repeated statement that his recommendations were "rock bottom figures."

In spite of the apparent impasse, sources close to the administration and to leaders of the legislative bloc, which have spearheaded the battle against the budget, indicated they were confident the controversy would be ironed out.

"The request that the Governor bow to the protests over his fiscal program was understood to have originated in Westchester county," Dewey, however, reaffirmed his position that any changes in the budget must come from the legislature. He offered the facilities and services of his budget experts in reviewing any proposals that might be offered.

Senator Pliny W. Williamson, leader of the Westchester legislative bloc, told a reporter earlier this week that "the only man who can revise a budget is the man who made it."

The governor spent hours yesterday conferring with Budget Director John E. Burton and Charles D. Bretel, his counsel. They were reported to have considered strategy to settle the current fight.

That strategy will be unfolded

General Motors Cuts Prices, Prepares to Reduce Wages

Detroit, Feb. 25 (AP)—General Motors cut all its passenger car prices today as it prepared to place in effect a cost of living wage reduction for 341,000 employees.

The world's largest operating corporation, reducing prices of its cars for the first time since the war's end, said it meant to pass on its wage savings to car buyers.

The price reductions, on Chevrolet trucks as well as GM's passenger cars, will run from $10 to $40, President C. E. Wilson said.

GM said the price cuts were effective immediately.

Its action came almost simultaneously with the government's announcement of a drop in the

Threat of Cabinet Crisis Is Reported

Helsinki, Finland, Feb. 25 (AP)—The threat of a cabinet crisis grew today. Opposition party leaders warned there is mounting danger to Finland because of Norway's pro-western stand and demanded the government step down in favor of a coalition.

Premier Karl A. Fagerholm's minority government, still in office by virtue of a two-vote margin Wednesday, appeared to have little chance to survive. Key members of various parties also dismissed the chance that Fagerholm himself might head a coalition, although he seems willing to do that.

All parties except Fagerholm's ruling Social Democrats have raised demands for a coalition because of Norway's stand on the Atlantic Pact.

Crossing Maps Filed

The "go ahead" signal of the Broadway crossing project has been given by the state, it was learned today.

Maps which establish the state's right to enter properties in the project area are now filed at the county clerk's office, and arrangements for acquisition of properties is expected to follow, as predicted at the Feb. 16 meeting here, "within days."

Some of the maps were filed Wednesday and others yesterday. They are of the individual properties in the project area.

The filing of the maps so quickly after the appearance of state representatives here last week, bears out the prediction of E. B. Hughes, director of the State Bureau of Rights of Ways and Claims, that preliminary work on the project would be started early.

The land is to be acquired, Hughes said, "not in weeks or months, but within days."

Few Have Plans

Tenants of the area, meanwhile have the same problems as they had a week ago in making preparations for the start of the project, and a brief survey this week indicated that the larger property holders in the area where buildings are to be razed or altered, have no definite plans at this time for relocating.

Owners Are Notified

Individual property owners in the project area were notified Wednesday and Thursday of the state's action in filing the maps. They will be dealt with separately from now on in the state's effort to arrive at early clear adjustments. They were informed of this also at the Feb. 16 meeting in the city hall.

Agreements between the state and individual property owners will also decide whether whole or parts of some buildings will be demolished, it was indicated at last week's meeting.

The maps filed include those of land to be acquired, temporary easements for excavations and temporary easements for construction of the underpass.

The properties include those of Anthony Saccomani, Cornell Street; Antonio Gentile and Bartolo Liccardo, Cornell and Thomas streets; William O'Reilly, the Canfield building; Louis Dutto property, Cedar street; D. S. Olli and Fuel Co., Greenkill avenue; Kingston Trust Co.; Albert H. Cook, Jr.; French Dye Works; Ben Israel; Alice V. Freiligh; A. R. and Fletcher J. Freiligh; Mary S. Rios; Edward S. Polley; Ralph Arace, and several parcels owned by the New York Central Railroad.

Church Has Job Of Removing Elm At Main and Fair

Responsibility for removal of a large elm tree at the corner of Main and Fair streets rests with the First Reformed Dutch Church, the Board of Public Works decided at its monthly meeting yesterday.

The board voted to inform the church of its decision based on findings of Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly, through a letter to B. C. Van Ingen, who had requested information as to responsibility through a letter to the board in January.

Provisions of the city charter require property owners to remove trees that are considered dangerous, and consent of the

'Hop to It,' G.O.P. Tells President

President Says He May

He May Be Surprised

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—President Truman's notice that he may stump the country for his legislative program drew a "hop to it" response from Republicans today.

Mr. Truman, in the down-to-earth lingo he used successfully in last year's campaign, told enthusiastic Democrats at Jefferson-Jackson Day dinners last night that Republicans are trying to "cripple" labor unions and hold minimum wages to a "starvation level."

And the capacity crowds cheered as he declared that "special interests" on Capitol Hill may compel him to board a train again soon "to tell the people how their government is getting on."

The Republicans, the President charged, want to destroy the farm price support program and force upon the government a "do nothing" policy which would let the American economy "slide into a depression."

To this, most Republicans had one answer:

Let the President first find out how he stands with his own party; then let him appeal to the people.

Senator Brewster of Maine, chairman of the G.O.P. senatorial campaign committee, said the President seems to forget that he has a Democratic congress.

"What's become of his majority in both Houses?" Brewster asked. "The 81st Congress must be worse than he said the 80th was."

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said Mr. Truman is all wrong in attacking the Taft-Hartley labor law. Taft said he thinks Mr. Truman will find that out in any check of the country.

Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) said it seems to him that the President recognizes that his own party doesn't agree with him.

"He is just building up a straw man of 'special interests' and bating it around," Bricker said, and added that Mr. Truman can try his luck with the country on that if he chooses.

Senator Morse (R-Ore.) remarked that if the Truman program has bogged down, as the President seemed to indicate, it is "because there is no united support on the Democratic side of the aisle."

"He is trying to cover up the split in his own party," Morse said.

That split still was apparent, Continued on Page Nine

Coroner Reports Death Accidental

A verdict of accidental death caused by a compound fracture of the skull and other injuries was given by Coroner Jesse McHugh of Walkkill in the death at New Palz Thursday noon of a 22-year-old private pilot of Flushing, L. I.

State police at Highland reported Edward Stratton Yarnall, 35-11 170 Street, Flushing, was killed instantly at 11:50 a. m. on Thursday when his airplane, a Boeing Stearman, crashed on the Chester Beach farm in New Palz.

An investigation was made by state troopers under Lt. J. J. Lawson, John Metzger, B.C.I., along with Coroner McHugh.

The plane crashed in the muddy section of the farm along the banks of the Walkkill river near New Palz Airport, from which the youth had been flying for the last week, Coroner McHugh said.

While in New Palz, the youth had been staying at the Palmer House.

State police and volunteers from the airport encountered difficulty in getting to the plane and removing the body of Yarnall because of the mud, and it was

West Shore Paints, Cleans Local Station

New developments on the West Shore Railroad this week include the cleaning and repainting of the passenger station on Railroad avenue and the appearance of a new Diesel switcher to operate locally.

The redecoration of the interior of the station is part of a program instituted along the entire line, a railroad official said, who pointed out that an inspection of station facilities on the West Shore had been made sometime ago and that the Kingston station had been slated at that time for the repainting and cleaning program.

The new Diesel switcher is a thousand and horsepower engine slightly different from the "round-switchers" now in general use on the Walkkill and Catskill Mountain branches. The new locomotive is being used in freight service on the Walkkill Valley branch and is sometimes used in regular switching service in the local yards.

Baptist Pleads Guilty To Bulgar State Crimes

Nikola Naumov Tells Court That He Is Sorry and Gives Two-Hour Discourse on Actions
Government Says Are Treasonable

Sofia, Bulgaria, Feb. 25 (AP)—The trial of 15 Protestant churchmen opened today with plea of guilty by Nikola Naumov, a Baptist minister, to crimes against the Bulgarian state.

The 15 clergymen are accused of treason, espionage and black market money dealing.

Naumov is one of the four principal defendants and a member of the Supreme Council of the United Evangelical Churches. Even before the trial started the government said all had made confessions.

Naumov was the first defendant to take the witness stand.

Speaking in a loud, firm voice, he told the court, "I'm guilty," and expressed regret for his activities.

He then went into a two-hour discourse on his actions which the government alleges are treasonable.

All 15 defendants, who are accused of spying for Britain and the United States, were in court for the opening ceremonies. They sat on five front benches with 15 unnamed policemen—one for each defendant.

Prosecutor Dimitar Georgi and his assistant Todor Tsakov first came into the crowded little courtroom. Then Judge Constantin Undjiev and the two jurors, Luka Lulev and Vayvo Vjezelv, took their places on the bench.

The defendants were asked to stand, state their names, nationality, occupations and whether they had previously been convicted of a crime.

In turn, each of the 15 announced his name, stated that he was a Bulgarian citizen and a Protestant minister and never had been convicted of a crime.

The accused men then filed from the room.

Dressed in his clerical suit, Naumov returned and began his testimony.

Senator Taft Asks Probe Of AngloEconomic Situation

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) called today for an examination of Great Britain's economic structure before Congress votes money for the second year of Marshall Plan aid.

Taft, who heads the Senate G.O.P. Policy Committee, told a reporter he takes with a grain of salt the statement by Christopher P. Mayhew, British undersecretary of foreign affairs, that Britain has recovered her economic feet and is turning to "new social and economic experiments."

The Ohioan said he doesn't think Mayhew's views will have any influence when Congress acts on the $5,580,000,000 European Recovery Authorization Bill. The

Statement Is First on His Policy

Presentation Delivered
by Thorp Before
Economic Council;
Asks Costs Share
Urges 3 Points

Lake Success, Feb. 25 (AP)—The United States laid before the United Nations today the broad outlines of President Truman's "bold new program" for long-range betterment of underprivileged areas the world over.

The first major policy statement here on the fourth point in Mr. Truman's inaugural address was given to the 18-nation Economic and Social Council by Assistant Secretary of State Willard L. Thorp.

There was no mention of how much money the United States might put up or how private capital would participate as proposed by Mr. Truman, but Thorp told the council:

"In order to safeguard the co-operative nature of the enterprise and the international character of the organization sponsoring it, no one country should be expected to assume all or most of the financial burden of the expanded program."

In this connection observers recalled that the United States has contended it should pay no more than one-third of the annual U.N. budget but has agreed reluctantly to carry nearly 40 per cent of the costs.

Thorp suggested many countries might contribute goods, services and local currencies in lieu of hard money.

Thorp urged the council to take up a three-point program he said the United States would offer as a resolution. It proposes that:

1. The U.N. and its specialized agencies prepare a coordinated "concrete program" for consideration by the council at its summer session in Geneva.

2. "The report covers ways and means for financial expansion" to support projects undertaken on recommendation of the U.N. and its agencies.

3. The report include recommendations for coordination of planning, execution and control.

"The timetable for attainment of these objectives of economic development is measured in decades, not in years," Thorp told the council. "The revitalization of the way of life of millions of people can come only gradually. However, with a bold new program of technical cooperation the United Nations can hasten significantly economic development."

Fosters Private Capital

Thorp reemphasized President Truman's pronouncement that the program would foster private capital investment in needful areas with reasonable assurances that it would be protected.

He quoted Mr. Truman's fourth point in full, and then, apparently anticipating a full-blown Soviet attack that already has begun against the program, he requested the section saying:

"The old imperialism—exploitation for foreign profit—has no place in our plans. What we envisage is a program of development based on the concepts of democratic fair-dealing."

"The concept of economic development applies equally," Thorp told the council, "to independent states and to dependent territories, which latter category includes the 10 trust territories and 62 other non-self-governing territories, where lives one out of every 10 persons in the world today."

Thorp pointed out the program was pegged on a flow of technological knowhow as well as capital for full development of the world's natural wealth and promotion of good livelihood. He said the country has a monopoly on the skills needed for general improvement.

He said that domestic private investment last year in the

THE HUMAN ELEMENT

The fire prevention experts are unanimously agreed that the human element is responsible for most destructive fires. Here is a true story of how human failure caused a fire and permitted it to do an extreme amount of damage.
A man was working on the floor of his living room with a flammable solvent. It was cold outside, and doors and windows were closed. He was smoking.
The can of solvent was accidentally overturned and as he stooped to retrieve it a glowing ash fell from his cigarette. The result was a flash of flame that quickly spread throughout the room. He ran from this room into the next, and the fire followed through the open door. This was repeated from room to room. By the time the fire was extinguished, damage to the structure, totaling several thousand dollars, had occurred. This, fortunately, was covered by insurance. But there was an equivalent damage to furniture which was not insured.
Here was a typical fire, which can be credited to human error alone. Flammable liquids should be used with the utmost care, and only if suitable non-flammable preparations are not available. They should never be used in a closed room, and the user should avoid smoking at all costs.
Then, when the fire did break out, the opening of doors into other rooms was the worst possible mistake. The draft thus created fed the fire perfectly. Had it been confined to the one room, damage could have been greatly minimized.
This little story would never have been written had the man in question known the basic rules of fire prevention—along with what to do if fire does strike. Mass education is the only road to fire prevention.

HOUSING PLAN

If the plan brought forward by Walter Reuther should be adopted, the housing problem might be partly solved and acres of factory space unused since the end of the war would again become productive. The idea is not new, though Reuther has given it a new setting and new figures.
The president of the United Automobile Workers, C.I.O., proposed that idle aircraft factories, together with their production-trained labor crews, should be put to work on pre-fabricated housing. He suggested that the necessary re-tooling should be financed by government loans, on which private industry should have first call. Reuther would not favor government operation of the project unless private enterprise should pass it by. He proposed that a national housing authority take charge of research on new building materials and look after the procurement of tools and facilities.
The plan could be partly financed by cutting the amount to be appropriated for military preparations. Reuther suggested. This cut would be more than offset, he claimed, by the advantage of having the plants and crews available for a quick changeover to plane manufacture in case of emergency.
This plan, which has been submitted to President Truman, has obvious appeal in the idea of using plant, equipment, and labor which have been associated in speedy assembly-line methods. There are also obvious objections, among which are the great cost of setting up the project and the question whether there really would be a market for vast numbers of the kind of houses which would be produced. Metal houses are on the market, but have not yet found popularity. Nevertheless the plan has daring, and it certainly seems that daring is needed to cope with our housing problem.

REVERED SENATOR

Senator Vandenberg's decision to retire at the end of his term in 1953 will cause wide regret. Drew Pearson, columnist and radio commentator, was not far from the mark when, at the ceremonies for the Merce Train, he called Vandenberg "our most revered senator."
The Michigan statesman has come a long way since he entered the Senate in 1927. For a while he seemed a narrow and conventional partisan, but he broadened with time, until now he is honored for his help to the bi-partisan foreign policy. He was an invaluable supporter of the United Nations; without his advocacy, the United Nations charter would have had many more negative votes in the Senate than the bare two that were finally cast.
Senator Vandenberg will be only 69 when his present term expires. Some onlookers are already figuring that he should be good for six more years if Michigan so chooses.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE CASE OF ANNA LOUISE STRONG

In 1917-18, a little daily newspaper was published in Petrograd by an American, H. Curtis Vezey, called the Russian Daily News. It was its editor for some ten months. The newspaper was actually owned by a British merchant in Russia. On the staff were Mantel Komroff, the novelist, and Lola Kinel, a Polish lady now in America. The wartime control was in the British military mission.
In February, 1918, the newspaper was confiscated as an enemy property by the Bolsheviks and we were all sent out of the country. In due course it reappeared as the Moscow Daily News, edited by Anna Louise Strong, an American with exceedingly strong pro-Soviet leanings. Its ownership, as that of all Soviet newspapers, is lodged in either the Soviet government or the Russian Communist party. No private newspapers may be published in that country.
Anna Louise Strong must have been satisfactory to both the Communist party and the government of Soviet Russia to have been given that job. Its most recent editor is Michael Borodin, who from 1923-7, was in China as representative of the third international in an attempt to conquer that country by Soviet Russia.
For years, the record shows that in this country and in many parts of the world Anna Louise Strong was one of the leading apologists for Soviet Russia, always finding everything excellent in that country and generally not so good anywhere else, particularly in the United States. There never has been any question as to her strong feeling for Soviet Russia and her devotion to everything Russian. And for more than two decades the Russians have accepted her as such.
Suddenly, she is denounced for espionage and is ordered deported from Russia to America. What has she done?
Her most recent work, "Dawn in China," is a panegyric of the Chinese Communists and particularly their leader, Mao Tse-tung. This book was issued by the Soviet Information Bureau and was published serially in every Communist newspaper in every country. It was published in this manner in The Daily Worker in New York up to the moment that she was declared a spy, when it was suddenly cut off.
There is evidence that the Soviet Information Bureau edited her copy, for "Borba," the official newspaper of the Yugoslav Communist party, published a letter from Anna Louise Strong in which she said:
"In case 'Dawn in China' is being prepared for publication as a book but still has not been printed I want to point out certain publishing changes that were made in Moscow by the editor of the Soviet Information Bureau. I do not have time to send you personally those changes, but the Soviet Information Bureau will send you a copy of their edition, if you want it, through their representative in Belgrade."
It is possible that Anna Louise Strong got into trouble in Soviet Russia by deviation from the Communist party line. One must be a mental gymnast, capable of jumping from one position to another as fast as the policy of the politburo changes. Or it is possible that Mao Tse-tung, in China is unorthodox, which Americans must not confuse with being anti-Communist. One can be schismatic without being a heretic.
But Americans must beware of former friends of Communism and of converts to anti-Communism. They may be smeared and attacked by their own papers with the object of giving them a good name, that they may continue to do bad things. The Communist party is quite capable of that. Perhaps Anna Louise Strong, in her old age, has seen the error of her ways and suffers from nostalgic patriotism. That is hard to believe. The only sure test would be if she did some overt act that would bring great harm to her former associates. Less than that is not worthy of notice.
The word, spy, is being used freely and correctly. There is a lot of people engaged in espionage these days. Sometimes the charge cannot be made to stick because, while everyone who should know the truth, the evidence will not stand up. It is better to be suspicious. Americans who have had close relations with the Communist party and Soviet Russia need prolonged testing.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

RESTING THE TUBERCULOUS LUNG

While it has been known that rest for the body, particularly rest of the lung or lungs is the ideal treatment for tuberculosis, this for many years meant that the patient required bed rest for months and years in addition to nourishing food.
Then came the life-saving method of resting the damaged lung by means of pneumothorax in which air was pumped into the chest cavity containing the lungs, which air, under pressure, prevented movement in the lung. Still later came operations for removal of some of the ribs, which likewise prevented the lungs from expanding. It is of interest to learn of another method of resting the lung called "pneumoperitoneum."
In the pneumoperitoneum, air is pumped into the abdomen whose lining is called the peritoneum. This air, under pressure, pushes upward against the floor of the chest and thus prevents the lungs from moving downward to any extent when air is breathed into the lungs.
In the "American Review of Tuberculosis," Drs. H. G. Trimble, J. L. Eaton, G. L. Gresham and Ina Gourley report their treatment of 407 patients with tuberculosis of the lungs by pneumoperitoneum. Of the 407 cases, 387 were men, 160 were and 222 were women. They were analyzed according to results. In 218 cases (53 per cent), the disease was stopped, and in additional 48 (13 per cent) were definitely improved with the cavity closed, and no germs found in their sputum at weekly intervals of two months.
An analysis of the results obtained, according to the severity or advanced condition of the disease, showed that arrest, or stopping of the activity of tuberculosis occurred in 28 of the 34 cases of early or mild tuberculosis, in 107 of the 133 moderately advanced cases, and in 83 of the 213 with advanced tuberculosis. In 106 of the 223 patients with a cavity or cavities, the disease became arrested, and another 40 were definitely improved. Where pleurisy also was present, the pneumoperitoneum gave satisfactory results but not in cases where silicosis (lungs filled with stone dust) was present.
When we think of these results obtained, cutting short by many months the needed "resting time" to cure tuberculosis, we can well say that the pneumoperitoneum achieves excellent results.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Washington.—The historic journey of 49 French "40 per-3 horses" boxcars through the U.S. is just about over. Except where heavy snow delayed the ceremony the boxcars have all been delivered.
The French committee of railroadmen, who spent months collecting the gifts that filled these cars, did not have the pleasure of seeing President Truman. Though urged to attend, Truman went to a concert a few blocks away from where they stood in the cold, presenting their gesture of friendship to the people of Washington. The assistant secretary of state who annually asks Congress for several million dollars to promote cultural relations with the rest of the world, take the trouble to go out in the cold to greet the visiting Frenchmen.
The French gratitude train committee had performed this momentous task without one cent of help from Mr. Aillon's budget, or from any U.S. source; yet the State Department, though specifically requested to do so, was not willing to send automobiles to the railroad station to meet the French visitors in Washington.
However, Vice President Barkley together with Senators Vandenberg and Connally with Attorney General Tom Clark and Undersecretary of State Jimmy Webb were out in the cold to greet the French.
Governors Did Seives Proud
And a great many governors, mayors, and patriotic citizens were far wiser and more hospitable than the State Department. Governor Tom Mabry of New Mexico sent his patrol cars across the desert to bring the French committee to Santa Fe. Governor Frank Carlson got up early in the morning and rode with them all through Kansas. Governors Scott of North Carolina and Clements of Kentucky threw open their homes. Governors Gibson of Vermont, Dever of Massachusetts and Pastore of Rhode Island staged special dinners and lunches. Governor Warren of California traveled all across his state to greet them.
And so on—the hospitality list of the American people is too long to mention here and the net result is that these Frenchmen are going home enthusiastic rooters for the United States.
They did not get to know Washington officialdom but they did get to know the American people.
They were made Kentucky colonels, honorary citizens of Dallas, honorary members of the Lions Club of Cheyenne, Wyo., inspected the great Goodyear rubber plant at Akron, watched the Pueblo Indians dance in New Mexico and enjoyed the champagne hospitality of the south. And they are going back to France better ambassadors for the U.S.A. than 400 Jefferson Cafferys. For Jefferson Caffery—a better than average ambassador—mixes only with the French upper crust, who are friends of the United States anyway.
These French railroadmen; on the other hand, mingle with the workers of the French—the people the Communists are trying to wean away and who for some extent have already been weaned away. They will mingle with the real people of France and they will be better ambassadors than any we have sent to Paris since Benjamin Franklin.
Spread Gospel of America
Take the case of M. Charles D'Hague, a shop foreman of the French railways as a member of the Gratitude Train. He appeared before the joint legislature of more states than Secretary of State Dean Acheson and probably as many as President Truman—the legislatures of Vermont, Arizona and New Mexico, M. D'Hague is from the backbone of France and he has met and mingled with the backbone of America. Thanks to the reception he received here, he is going back to France, back to his job as a shop foreman, to spread the gospel of America. He will be a great ambassador.
Most of our official ambassadors give dinners and cocktail parties to which the upper crust of government are invited. But it's the people of European countries, not the upper crust, who are deciding issues today. And while Secretary of State Acheson was so busy negotiating a North Atlantic pact that he could not greet the visiting Frenchmen he overlooked the fact that no treaty is worth more than the paper it's written on unless public opinion backs it up, and that arms shipped to Europe may fall into the hands of an enemy unless the men of Europe are ready to stand up and use those arms.
That is one of the most important points missed by the high-up planners of the State Department and the Pentagon. They are so far up in the stratosphere, so busy writing pacts and shipping arms to Europe, that they forget about people.
Friendship Foundation Needed
The government of France which signs the North Atlantic pact may be out of office the following day. But the people of France go on forever. And as long as the French people stand with the American people we build on a foundation far more solid than pacts or treaties.
What most Americans don't realize is that Moscow, up until a year ago, had made great inroads upon the French and Italian people. Approximately one-third of them voted Communist. Moscow prides itself on having a hold on people—all its propaganda is directed to that goal, not to governments. Despite this, 6,000,000 French people—in answer to the friendship train—organized a train of gratitude to the United States. They did this without any inspiration from their government, on a purely people-to-people basis.
Stalin probably would have given his left arm had the French people sent such a train to Russia, because he specializes in winning over people. But the French didn't send it to him. They sent their train to the American people instead.
And that's why, despite the cold-shoulder given the Frenchmen by President Truman and the State Department, the receptions accorded them by the Mayor, Joe Smith of Oakland, California, and the Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York and the Mayor George Welch of Grand Rapids and the Mayor Fletcher Bowron of Los Angeles and the Mayor Jim Connelley of Boston and all the others were so important.
For they saw the importance of this people-to-people government and they, together with the governors and a large part of the rest of the American people, gave the French the rousing welcome they so well deserved and will always remember.

The Taconic State Parkway, which now terminates at Route 35, east of Poughkeepsie, will be extended north to Route 199 at Balayette by the end of 1949. Contracts for the paving of this 21-mile extension of the parkway and for the reconstruction of Route 199 between Red Hook and the parkway, have been awarded by the New York State Department of Public Works.
The tidal wave of April, 1946, raced across the Pacific ocean at a speed of 400 miles per hour.

President May Become Best Asset for Republicans
20 Months From Now in Congressional Elections
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 25.—President Truman may become the best asset the Republican party has in the congressional elections twenty months hence.
Mr. Truman has developed the idea that the election was an overwhelming victory for him, that the people told him in effect to do as he pleased and that minority opinion can be brushed aside and disregarded.
What used to be a wavering confidence in himself has now apparently turned to a cockiness, if not arrogance, which is amazing to many people in Washington who never believed he would contradict the impression of humbleness he gave when he first took office.
The zest of the campaign and the feeling that he alone was right in assessing the trend of the election last November—despite the fact that it was really a close contest—have tended to increase materially the President's estimate of his own talents.
This is bound to have repercussions on public policy. It is bound also to reduce the prestige of the Democratic party and make it more difficult for Democratic senators and representatives to win elections unless they begin, as so often happens in political history, to show an independence of the executive.
It is an unwritten rule that when a President grows weak with public opinion, members of his party begin to strengthen themselves by separating their course from his.
How is Mr. Truman hurting the Democratic party? It is because he is ignoring the vast body of independent voters who cast their ballots for him when they merely professed him to Dewey and preferred Democratic policies to the Republican policies of the last congress. To assume that the huge farm vote gave Mr. Truman the right to say the whole people demanded the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, for instance—as he declared in his Jackson Day speech—is to arouse doubts which can only be resolved in the next congressional campaign, when the farm districts can pass judgment on Mr. Truman's policies.
Mr. Truman is bound to become weaker if he files in the face of public opinion. Today public opinion wants a balanced labor-management law and not a one-sided law. Today also the American people want their president to be dignified and respectful.
The fact that Mr. Truman did not see fit to apologize for his "S.O.B." remark and, indeed, treated it lightly may mean, as he evidently thinks, that the people gave him a mandate to talk as he pleased or to do what he pleased. But the repercussions of that remark will be felt for a long, long time unless somehow erased from the record on Mr. Truman's initiative.
The Jackson Day speech was a political address in every sense of the word. It hit Republicans hard, and that is customary in a political campaign. The circumstances surrounding the banquets, however, will not be lost on the American people. When 3,000 persons—primarily in public office or in the legislative lobbies and pressure groups—put up $100 apiece for the political campaign chest, it is obvious that this isn't the kind of money the so-called "little people" who presumably elected Mr. Truman have in their pockets nowadays.
Why do these persons on the government payroll spend $100 a plate for the Jackson Day dinners? It is because this gets around the law that prohibits any solicitation for political contributions being made among government employees. Congress intended that any such contributions must be "voluntary." The political committees keep track of those who buy or don't buy tickets.
Mr. Truman's speech was in radical vein. He apparently intends to hew to the line of the last campaign. He believes he won by what he said in his speeches and that his tactics will hold the Democrats in line and frustrate the Republicans. He is due to a party before the present session of Congress is over.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Tom Dewey certainly was on solid ground when he dared any old-fashioned Republican "to go out and try to get elected in any typical community" on a platform rejecting social security generally, and "vigorous protection of the rights of labor."
The old-fashioned Republican would be massacred. But he would go down a Republican.
Governor Dewey often has said that the most important thing in politics is to get elected. But when he puts himself up for President of the United States a man ought to run under his true colors, and we now learn by his own admission that Tom Dewey isn't a Republican at all.
When he challenged any real Republican to try to get elected in any "typical American community" on a platform excluding all the European socialistic and Nazi-Fascist entanglements to "brighten" money for any people, he really said the typical Americans had no intelligent interest in the kind of government guaranteed them by their Constitution. I think he is right, but I am not going to say it is a good thing for the United States.
Under the Constitution, which violates the spirit of that Constitution, there is nothing in the text that could possibly be construed to mean that the authors intended that a man out of work, for any reason, should be paid money out of the public treasury even by a fictitious "insurance" fund, which fund would be propped up by "invested" in competition with private capital. In dead storage it is a liability. So it is spent for going expenses and is a minus quantity. The Constitution had no intention to let the ne'er-do-wells rest on the dole when they were "out of work." Under that system, a farmer would have drawn a dole for the months when he had no thing to do but yawn and put sticks in the fire. The trapper would have been on the dole most of the year.
The founding fathers knew human nature and they knew, as we soon learned when we tried unemployment insurance, that the shiftless people, the loafers and whiners, the parasites, the scoundrels which we have tried, these scoundrels were quickly verified in New York, LaGuardia and Marcantonio colonized thousands and thousands of misfits whom they enticed or positively imported from elsewhere. They provided bright, alert, political agents to fill out the forms and qualify these unemployables for the dole and home relief. The cost to the public has been so great that nobody can see a way out. The best that any honest believer can hope for is an indefinite postponement of the reckoning. The "social security" money is spent as fast as it comes in. There is no end in sight.
Certainly any true Republican who proposed the abolition of such lures would be licked. But this nation was founded to be a republic, not a democracy. Under a Republican system you frankly assume that the people have not sense enough to resist the temptation of ruminous counsel and you do not let them vote on propositions which may be paraphrased as: "Do you want $1,000 free out of the public treasury? Yes—No."
Under the Republican system you only let them vote for public officials, in-legislators, who are presumed to be more intelligent and honest than the average run of voters. And you leave it to them to decide what to do with public money and how to raise it, trusting them to stay inside the Constitution in all their decisions.

So They Say...

I don't think the United States in the whole of its history ever had a president and vice president who were more congenial.
—President Truman, at a reception honoring Vice President Barkley.
We are not Democrats and we are not Republicans. We are not going to attempt to capture the Democrats or the Republicans and we are not going to be captured by them.

—Victor Kravchenko, author of "I Choose Freedom."
Hard times will be just as hard on Republicans as on Democrats. It is up to the Republicans to insist that the government avoid the legislative excesses which can lead to breadlines.

A.—It is the national theatre of France and is supported by public funds. It does not have a star system for its actors, the parts being shared among the players arranged by mutual agreement.
Q.—Why are English policemen sometimes called Peelers?
A.—Sir Robert Peel originated the modern English police system.
Q.—When you speak of the Douay Bible, what do you mean?
A.—It means the Douay version of the Bible translated at Douay, Flanders into English in the 16th century and revised in the 18th century. It is commonly used by Catholics in English-speaking countries.
Q.—What was the first woman in this country to receive a patent?
A.—The first recorded patent granted to a woman was received by Mary Kies in 1809 for a method of weaving straw with silk or thread.
Q.—For how long have men worn gloves?
A.—Cave men fashioned rude gloves of leather to protect their hands and arms. A child's long linen glove, perhaps not quite so old as the Pyramids, was found in Egypt in the tomb of King Tutankhamun, who reigned about 1350 B. C.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Feb. 24 — The north reservoir country is now bare of snow except for patches on the higher mountains. There is no frost in the ground and this condition presages a short maple syrup season, similar to those of the past three years. What with Cornell maple experts reporting that there is a market for every gallon of syrup that can be produced, and that the industry yields $2.06 per bushel at present prices, there ought to be considerable activity along this line during the next few weeks. The supply of hard maple is rapidly decreasing, however, as a result of the inroads made by lumbermen and tree borers; there is an immense demand for this timber and the loss is $60 per M. L. O. E. Delaware county sawmills.

Charlie Tiano's sports page item on Bart Tandy's adult swimming classes at the Kingston "Y" was highly interesting to readers in Shokan where Secretary Tandy and his family have resided for the past two years. The Tandys constitute a wholesome addition to our growing population.

There is no report of raccoons being taken in this section during the winter. Up in Greene county the outlook for more profitable gardens next summer appears much brighter, judging by the following item in the Recorder-Examiner from the paper's Dutchess county reporter: "The McCafferty brothers and their dogs accounted for 42 raccoons during the past season. The Stone Bridge bluebirds brought down to 18, eight in one night."

A few more good cone hunters around Olive might be all right. Bruce Winchell, Kingston's young man who according to The Freeman is completing a course as an electrical technician at the Battle Hill School, is a scion of old Olive stock. He is a descendant of the Lemuel Winchell who kept the first store here, about 170 years ago.

A local reader offers the suggestion that the Ontario Trail which is becoming increasingly popular as a scenic route and short-cut to the western part of the state, might be published to advantage by the compiling of a guide-book to the road. He has in mind something like the booklet soon to be put out in connection with the Rip Van Winkle Trail, replete with word and pictorial descriptions of the area. Our Trail, too, he points out, has scenic wonders, historic landmarks, such top-notchers as the great Ashokan Reservoir, the Traver Hollow bridge and the superb Wittenberg range.

Here Saturday

"TAL" McNUTT

"Tal" McNutt, popular youth leader, and his all-college musical messengers from Gordon College, Boston, Mass., will conduct a youth rally at the First Baptist Church school auditorium, Albany avenue at Broadway, Saturday starting at 8 p. m. A covered dish fellowship supper to which all county youth organizations are invited, will be served at 6:30 p. m.

McNutt, a Junior at Gordon College, was sergeant in the Army Air Corps during World War 2 and was founder of the 'Tokyo Youth for Christ Movement'. He has traveled more than 9,000 miles to keep 97 appointments in schools, churches and auditoriums throughout New England during the past year.

He and his musical messengers made their first appearance before the Kingston High School student body at a special assembly this morning and at a large youth meeting in Saugerties Thursday night.

He will be accompanied Saturday night by an efficient tenor soloist and pianist; also by "Doc" Muroch, a former navy veteran and talented song leader; Henry Bock, ex-G.I. infantry scout and holder of the Purple Heart for heroism in the Philippines, who plays the trumpet; and Dean Bohnke, a Kingston High School graduate of 1947, trombonist.

McNutt's staff of musicians also will have charge of the 11 a. m. worship service and 6:45 p. m. youth program on Sunday at the First Baptist Church.

BABSON on BUSINESS

FARM PRICES

Babson Park, Fla., Feb. 25—Of course, farm prices will ultimately be dependent upon supply and demand. With or without parity they are bound to sell lower. Whenever great surpluses occur in any product, black markets develop. Potatoes, which cannot be preserved, may be thrown overboard; but the public will never stand for throwing wheat, corn and other cereals overboard. The cost of living for 1949 will be less than that for 1948.

What About Parity?

The above does not mean that the parity subsidy which the farmer now gets will be eliminated. It may automatically and gradually be decreased; but parity for farm products is here to stay. Farmers may at last feel they are going to be taken care of as have other groups.

The government does not compel the farmer to sell at any definite price, but rather merely offers to "loan" the farmer a parity price of his product. The government calls it a "loan"; but it really is not a loan because, unlike other loans, if the value of the product goes down below the amount of the "loan", the farmer is not compelled to make up this difference. It is a unique proposition of "heads I win, tails you lose" always in favor of the farmer.

Let's Look At The Farmer

When I was a boy there were almost no government subsidies of any kind. As a result, our government, which is now spending $4 billion a year, got on with less than one billion a year. The first subsidy was that of the protective tariff. This was just as much of a subsidy to manufacturers as parity support is now to the farmer. It is very difficult to get tariffs removed after they have once been put on the books. The next subsidy was given to those who would build and operate steamboats. These subsidies have constantly been increased rather than diminished. In the meantime, pension subsidies were given to Civil War veterans, and to Spanish War veterans, and later to World War veterans. These subsidies started in a small way, but here, again, they have constantly increased. Labor has received a subsidy by government supporting labor unions and permitting us consumers to be assessed for increased wages.

Perhaps the greatest subsidy is that paid to unemployed government employees. To supply these and other funds income taxes were invented. It is well to remind younger readers that the normal income tax in 1913 was only 1 or 2% and the highest tax for the richest people went up to only 5%. This has gradually been increased so that the normal is now over 20% and the taxes gradually increase so that the rich people pay over 90%. Hence, the farmer is justified in asking that he likewise be taken care of as well as these useless government employees in unnecessary government bureaus.

The Farmers Future

Many talk of parity as a temporary affair, but I can assure farmers that it will be just as permanent as tariffs, soldiers' pensions, labor legislation and income taxes. The parity program may be adjusted from time to time in accordance with general business conditions, but farmers can depend upon it forevermore. I forecast that from now on whatever the administration the farmer will be taken care of as he should be.

The above is one reason why I am optimistic on good farm property as an investment. Large concerns are being attacked as other large corporations, although they also deserve protection. I believe, however, that the small sustenance farms which are fairly near good communities are an excellent insurance. Every family should own such a sustenance farm somewhere. This does not mean to leave a good city job and go into farming as a business. I do not recommend small farming as a business, but I do recommend it as an insurance, and as a place to live and get your food, clothing and necessary shelter in case of World War III. Furthermore, as people wake up to the importance of such insurance, these farms will become more in demand and hence should be a good investment if bought at a right price.

As Pegler Sees It

I think it is too late now to break the American people abruptly of the habit of looking to the government for everything. Mr. Dewey has got the best of me there. But he isn't a Republican. He is a New Dealer, a Socialist, like Roosevelt and his party. A Republican wouldn't endorse these European follies and ask for more.

Under the unemployment dole, the unions, controlling fifteen million of our best jobs, have the power, enacted into federal law, to call out all those ten or fifteen million people on strike and take the various treasurers for the day for the wages of them. When they called out the auto workers for 100 days and simultaneously struck the steel industry, the unemployment soon backed up into the tributary lines of work. Tires, glass, gears, bearings, chemicals, wood, ore, coal, all the things that go into steel and automobiles. And in times of normal commerce the employment would have gone forward from the steel mills and automobile plants to affect the white collar and service peoples, all eligible for a public dole because two men, Walter Reuther, of the auto workers, and Philip Murray, of the steel workers, for reasons of internal union politics, decided they must make these enormous strikes. A few men could break the state unemployment systems by arbitrary union action at will.

Those strikes come under the heading of "vigorous protection of the rights of labor," which Mr. Dewey would write into the credo of his imitation New Deal. In 1944 he gave the Wagner Act his unqualified endorsement. And only by the powers conferred through that act were Reuther and Murray enabled to pull those strikes.

All those things which Dewey lumps under the title of "social security generally" call for checkoff detentions of money which individual American citizens have earned. Some of them nowadays never see large portions of their wages which are stopped before the money gets to the pay window and sliced into various funds. Social security, unemployment insurance, union dues fees and assessments, withholding tax. What next?

Our people never gave their government the right to check off any percentage of their earnings. Congress and the Legislatures just did it. That money belongs to them, absolutely, as earned. Except in case of garnishes on judgment no part of it may be legally seized. But the New Deal saw the unions getting away with it. So Roosevelt tried it with a small grab for social security and he got away with that. Now the unions are proposing that the government raise its grab to eight or ten per cent for medical service, old age pensions and all those things which Mr. Dewey calls "social security generally."

Why not take it all and let the government provide the quarters, the rations and standardized clothing, the standardized education and the consolations of a state religion and relieve the "typical American" of all the petty responsibilities and liberties of life in the total-security state? If the legislative branch can decide how a man must spend the first ten per cent of his wages why not 100 per cent?

Bills Proposed in Legislature

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25 (AP)—A bill before both Houses of the Legislature today would require semi-annual motor vehicle inspections by state-operated garages.

The joint legislative committee on motor vehicle problems, sponsor of the proposal, said the program would be supported by 75-cent fees charged for inspections. The measure provides for strategically located inspection stations that would be required to check specified automobile equipment. If a car was found in good condition it would be issued a sticker. If not, it would be barred from the highways.

The companion bills were introduced by Senator Seymour Halpern of Queens and Assemblyman Lawrence Van Cleef of Seneca Falls, both Republicans and chairman, and vice-chairman, respectively, of the committee.

Halpern said the measure would reduce the number of persons killed in automobile accidents in New York by upwards of 700 a year, and estimated that 30,000 fewer people would be injured each year in highway accidents. Last year more than 2,000 persons were killed on the state's highways.

Halpern also predicted that "millions of dollars in property damage would be saved annually" by his bill.

The measure calls for an appropriation of $75,000 to initiate the program. After that, Halpern said, an estimated $4,500,000 annual cost of the proposed program would be financed by the owners of approximately 3,000,000 cars in the state.

A bill to allow a blind person an exemption of an additional $600 for income tax purposes was introduced by Senator Raymond J. McGovern, R-New Rochelle.

Democrats Raise $100,000 at Dinner

San Francisco, Feb. 25—(AP)—A continuing fight against the spread of communism in the world and a clean sweep for California Democrats in 1950—those were the predictions left with the party's stalwarts today by Vice President Alben W. Barkley.

Barkley spoke last night before a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner described by party leaders as the biggest affair of its kind in the state.

The dinner raised $100,000 or more, most of it for the party's 1950 war chest.

The vice president lashed out against communism in one of his frequent departures from his text. The speech, delivered before about 2,500 party members, was broadcast.

"God forbid that any regime controlled from Moscow should ever get control of this United States," he said.

"If we drive back the insidiousness and godlessness of communism, it will be worth all its costs us" in the European Recovery Program, the vice president added. In E.R.P. and the North Atlantic Treaty, he declared, "we are now seeking to guide the democratic nations of the world out of the marshes of human desolation, economic, political and moral, onto the firm mainland of peace and prosperity."

OFFICE CAT

By Jimmie

A famous European king greatly admired a beautiful court lady. One day he asked her age. She replied: "Your majesty, I am twenty-five."

Five years later he again put the same question to her. She again replied: "Your majesty, I am twenty-five."

"King—" "See here, you told me that five years ago."

She—"Certainly, I am not one of those ladies who say one thing one day and another the next."

Tenderly he gathered her into his arms and whispered gently: "Let me kiss those tears away, sweetheart."

She relaxed in his arms, but the tears flowed on. Breathlessly, he asked:

"Will nothing stop them?"

She (murmuring)—"I'm afraid not. It's my fever, but you can continue the treatment."

He who would find true happiness in life should stop seeking and start giving.

The Covenant Breakfast, an annual event of Zephaniah Lodge of B'nai B'rith, held in connection with its membership activities, will be held at the Wall Street Club house Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Applicants for membership accompanied by their sponsors will be guests of the lodge.

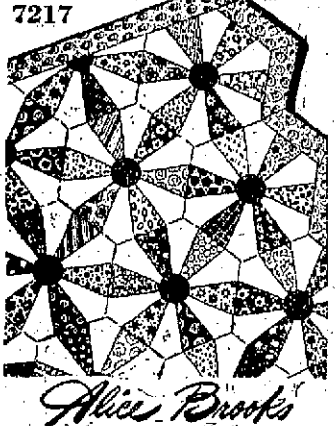

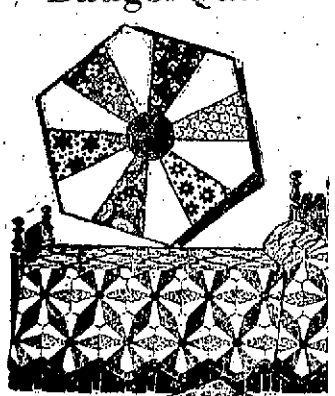

The Rev. Richard E. Evans, a well-known clergyman and lecturer, will deliver an address. The Rev. Mr. Evans left his Milwaukee parish more than ten years ago to seek a larger pulpit—the nation itself. Since then he has visited thousands of cities and hamlets discussing vital topics of the day. There has been a demand for him before audiences of every nation and design from school and youth groups to women's clubs, to specialized professional associations. From the start of his ministerial campaign the Rev. Mr. Evans has concentrated on the endless fight against bigotry in America.

Currently the Rev. Mr. Evans is moderator of the "Human Rights Hour" on radio station WLIB in New York. He served as national director of the 150th anniversary of the observance of the Bill of Rights. His constant struggles for better living in the greater American democracy have earned him many public awards including a distinguished service medal from his native Milwaukee which proclaimed him its outstanding citizen.

INDEFINITE WEDDING DATE

A mother tells me: "My daughter is getting her ring soon but she will not be able to be married in the definite future. Should we announce the engagement publicly in the papers or should the announcement be made only to relatives and friends until the date of the marriage can be announced at the same time? Don't you think it would be rather pointless to make an announcement in the papers after the engagement had existed for some months and my daughter has worn her ring?"

It is much better to announce it publicly because it is far more practical to have it known from every angle of their daily lives. To keep it a secret always results in awkwardness and subtlety.

Normal Clothes for Young Boys

Dear Mrs. Post: It is customary, at least in this locality, for Jewish parents to give their 13-year-old boys big confirmation parties. These range from elaborate dinners to evening parties. My son has been invited to a large evening party which is "formal." What in the world can my young son wear? He has no plain dark blue suit or anything like that. He is too young for a tuxedo. The little girls will wear long party-dresses.

Answer: The best thing to do is find out what other boys are going to wear, and if none is going to wear brown or other mixed suits, he will be very conspicuous—but perhaps he won't mind.

Young Grandmother Complains
Dear Mrs. Post: I'm scarcely 40 and am a grandmother of three. Two have been calling me "Mamma Jane." The third, just learning to talk, has a mother who insists this implies a mother and not a grandmother. What is your opinion?

Answer: The fact that "Mama" is followed by the name "Jane" is proof that you are not the mother, because no child ever calls her mother with anything added to "Mama." But, of course, the feelings of your daughter-in-law have to be taken into consideration.

January Report Is Given By County Board of Health

During the month of January mumps continued to be reported in epidemic proportions in Ulster county. Mumps have been a reportable disease only two months and during January 138 cases were reported to the county health department.

Toward the end of the month the reported cases began to drop and it is believed the epidemic is definitely on the wane.

At the monthly meeting of the Board of Health for January the positions of temporary sanitary inspectors were filled. These positions for the coming summer will be filled by men who have had from four to two years experience. Work assignments are now being prepared so that the 1,300 properties requiring annual inspection can be covered during the operating season. Those appointed are: John C. Braun, Leo J. Doherty, Herbert G. Flister, Stephen D. Hyatt, Joseph C. Miskish, Jr., M. Clifford Miller, Carlton E. Taylor, DeWitt F. Wells.

Dr. George W. Weber, medical director of the Tuberculosis Institute, reported eight patients admitted during January, five of them being first admissions and the other three re-admissions. There were four deaths, all of them being men over 55 years of age. Two patients were discharged against advice and one as a questionable case. Follow-up examinations are still being made of patients who were examined in the course of the mass survey in the city last November.

In the Division of Public Health Nursing, Miss E. C. Schultes, acting director, reported the assignment of Miss H. Patricia Gibson, physical therapist, to Ulster county part time to assist with the orthopedic program. Miss Catherine Berger also joined the public health nurse staff and was assigned to Kingston city. She formerly worked with the visiting nurse service and Department of Hospitals, New York city.

Harold J. Edgington, director of the Division of Environmental Sanitation, reported issuance of annual milk permits to seventy-three milk dealers in Ulster county. There were no new dealers and no new milk sources added to the previous distribution pattern. Following issuing of permits to milk dealers, 300 inspections of milk stores in which milk and milk products are sold and permits issued where adequate storage refrigeration was maintained. Milk samples taken in the county were found to be satisfactory.

In the statistical report for the month of January there are reported 16 cases of chickenpox, 1 jaundice, 2 German measles, 8 measles, 3 meningitis, 158 mumps, 1 pertussis, 8 pneumonia and 13 scarlet fever including strep throat.

There were 9 active pulmonary cases of tuberculosis reported, 2 inactive and six unknown activity. Five deaths from tuberculosis were reported in January. During the month of January there were 46 X-rays on adult hospital admissions at the Kingston Hospital, 138 at the Benedictine Hospital and 47 at the Veterans Memorial Hospital. These X-rays are financed directly by the New York State Department of Health in its tuberculosis detection project.

There were 11 active cases of tuberculosis were disclosed through this service. A total of 138 live births were reported for the month, 4 stillborn and 7 deaths between 0 and 1 month.

Causes of death reported in January were:

1. disease 29, cancer 17, cerebral hemorrhage 10, accidents 5, pneumonia 3, diabetes 6, disease of arteries 7, tuberculosis 5, nephritis 2, disease peculiar to the first year of life 7, all other causes 10, Total 101.

There were 11 sewage and sewage treatment inspections made during January.

A total of 412 visits and inspections were made of milk services and plants during January and milk samples taken were generally found to be good.

The Kingston City meat inspector reports 414 cows, 563 calves and 1 lamb inspected during the month.

The Kingston plumbing inspector reports 3 applications for installation in new buildings, 18 at existing buildings, 19 final inspections, 26 other inspections and 3 complaints received and investigated.

DENIES CHARGE

Mon C. Wallgren, President Truman's nominee for chairman of the National Security Resources Board, shakes his glasses as he denies before the Senate Armed Services Committee in Washington that he was "soft with Communists" while governor of Washington state.

despite Mr. Truman's surprise victory last November. Democrats at the dinner showed their approval of the speech by applause. Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) especially liked the President's criticism of those who oppose repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law. "Every word the President says has been confirmed in the Senate Labor Committee hearings," Pepper said.

However, only eight of 21 southern Democratic senators who oppose Mr. Truman's civil rights program were officially recorded as present for the dinner, held in the Mayflower and Statler Hotels.

Absent, according to the guest lists, were such party stalwarts as Senators George and Russell of Georgia, Byrd of Virginia, Ellender of Louisiana, and Eastland and Stennis of Mississippi.

Conspicuously present were such Dixie administration supporters as Senators HILL and Sparkman of Alabama.

Democratic national committee aides explained that others who were absent may have been making Jefferson-Jackson speeches of their own.

Mr. Truman used the occasion to bid those who didn't think he could win last November and to say again that he isn't fooling about getting his domestic program enacted.

Recounting a story about a coffin that Andrew Jackson wouldn't accept, Mr. Truman drew a moral: "Before you offer to bury a good Democrat, you better be sure he is dead."

He was after commenting that the main issue in last November's election "was the welfare of all the people against the special privilege of the few," that Mr. Truman said he might tour the country and talk to the people again.

The more than 1,500 Democrats packed into a hotel dining room jumped to their feet and cheered that there was no doubt that, having tasted victory in Mr. Truman's aggressive campaign tactics last year, they wanted the President to keep on in the same fashion.

American espionage agents and had delivered military and other information to Cyril Black, then secretary of the U. S. Political Mission.

He said Black was "the center of American espionage activities in Bulgaria after 1944." (Black is a professor at Princeton University. He previously has declared the charges were "fantastic.")

Before he took the stand, presiding Judge Underhill told the defendant he was accused of the most serious crimes in the history of the country and that he was convinced the defendant would tell the truth.

The judge said if the court "is impressed by your sincerity, this will be taken into consideration in the passing of sentence."

One American and two British official observers were in court along with 25 newspaper reporters. The American observer was Mrs. Mary Johnston, press and cultural attaché.

Nauyov said he began collecting information for the western powers in 1938 at the time of the visit of a man named Slobrent from Vienna, then in charge of inspection of religious institutions. He said Slobrent entrusted him with the task of collecting military, economic and political information, including the movements of troops, boundary fortifications and movements of military trains.

He said in 1944 he visited Yanko and they arranged to report to Black.

He said Black was interested in Bulgarian reaction to Communism, to the Russians and to peace treaty provisions.

At one point, he asserted, "I am sorry for my acts, I confess sincerely to the Bulgarian people and I repent my activities."

It appeared the trial, from its place today, would continue for at least a week.

The Rev. Vassil Ziapkov, alleged ringleader among the defendants, may not appear until late in the trial. He sat in the 13th seat among the defendants.

Photographers Barred

Although news reporters filled the press box and more were on their way from outside the courtroom, photographers were barred from the courtroom. It appeared a rule against courtroom news pictures would be maintained.

Illa Timev, deputy minister of justice, announced at a news conference that all had admitted guilt, voiced repentance and begged for "a new chance to work for the motherland." To support his statements he exhibited 2,266 pages of depositions taken from the accused men and witnesses.

The trial inspired intense interest throughout the world since it follows by 17 days the life sentence of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty in a Hungarian People's court on similar charges. Both Hungary and Bulgaria are Communist-governed "people's democracies."

The Hungarian government denied Cardinal Mindszenty's arrest and trial had anything to do with his religious activities. Bulgarian officials make the same assertions concerning the case of the Protestant churchmen. They say the accused are being brought to trial not because they are church leaders but because they plotted against the government.

There is a difference in the two trials, however. Cardinal Mindszenty was the highest Roman Catholic prelate in a country 78 per cent Catholic.

In Bulgaria Protestants are a small minority. The Bulgarian government says the four principal denominations involved—Congregational, Methodist, Baptist, and Pentecost—have 13,490 members. The Greek Orthodox Church has about 6,000,000.

Four Defendants

The four chief defendants are: The Rev. Vassil Georgiev Ziapkov, head of the Congregationalists and religious representative of the United Evangelical Churches which includes the four denominations.

The Rev. Yanko Ivanov, 48, supervisor of the Methodist Church and deputy religious representative of the United Evangelical Churches.

The Rev. Georgi Nikolov Chernev, 46, head of the Pentecost Church.

The Rev. Nikola Mikhailov Nauyov, 49, secretary of the union board of Baptist churches.

All are members of the Supreme Council of the United Evangelical Churches in Bulgaria.

The other 11 accused ministers are: The Rev. Lambri Marinov Mishkov, 41, Congregationalist.

The Rev. Georgi Vassev, 48, Baptist.

The Rev. Haralan Ivanov Popov, 41, Pentecost.

The Rev. Ioncho Nikolov Drianov, 41, Pentecost.

Pray for Persecuted

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—The president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America urged today that all members of the council's 27 denominations pray for their "Christian brethren" under attack in several Communist lands.

Bishop John S. Stamm, head of the council, said in a statement that the "real issue" in the trial of 15 Protestant church leaders in Bulgaria "appears to be the conflict between loyalty to God and loyalty to an earthly power."

The statement by Stamm, of Harrisburg, Pa., a bishop of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, was made public at the council office here as the Bulgarian trial opened in Sofia.

The council comprises 24 Protestant and three Eastern Orthodox bodies with a claimed total membership of nearly 29,000,000.

Bishop Stamm said the real issue in Sofia is not that the Bulgarian church leaders "may be technically on trial for violating certain laws of the state."

"There is a systematic attack upon churches in several countries in the Soviet orbit," he declared. "Wherever leaders of the church challenge or even assert independence of the totalitarian regime, they are subjected to various kinds of persecution."

"The 15 Protestant leaders who are on trial today illustrate the gravity of the situation. . . . Protestants throughout America will wish to express their sense of Christian fellowship with those who are bearing a Christian witness in the face of hostile forces."

"The only way in which we can all help our Christian brethren in this crisis is by our prayer for them and by manifesting a solidarity of spirit with them. Whatever may be the outcome of the trial so far as their personal fortunes are concerned, their Christian witness and faithfulness will not be in vain."

"We remember also others who are suffering for conscience sake. In the present situation an attack upon the religious liberty of one group is an attack upon the religious liberty of all."

The body was removed to the Pine Funeral Home Thursday afternoon and the youth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell A. Yarnall of Flushing, were notified. They arrived here late Thursday afternoon to make funeral arrangements. In addition to his parents, Yarnall is survived by a brother, Lt. Russell A. Yarnall, Jr., of the United States Air Force.

The body will be shipped Saturday to the White Funeral Home, Parker Ford, Pa., from where funeral services will be held Monday at 11 a. m. Burial will be at Parker Ford.

Similar action was authorized on the request of Elizabeth Sears, 40 Smith avenue, for removal by the city of a tree in front of that address. The board voted to inform her of the law through a letter.

City Engineer Arthur J. Hallinan notified the board that Gordon M. Taylor, who had been hired temporarily as engineer's aide, grade 4, had terminated his employment and was returning to Bard College. The board voted to notify the civil service commission.

A request of Tenth Ward Alderman James J. Carroll for a light globe in front of 64 Van Buren street was referred to the light committee.

A letter informing the board of required Common Council action on the Duncmen avenue sanitary sewer project was filed. The council acted on the proposal at a recent session.

Methodist Church Holds Quarterly Conference

The Rev. Dr. Burton S. Tarr, district superintendent of the Methodist Church, presided at the fourth quarterly conference of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church Thursday night.

Reports of the various organizations of the church indicated that excellent programs are being promoted with satisfactory results.

Dr. Tarr interspersed the reports with inspiring words on the program of evangelism and the part the laymen of the church can do in promoting world friendship.

The Rev. William R. Peckham, pastor of the church, also reported on pastoral duties during the quarterly period. The pastor's work was later cited in a talk by E. B. Schepmoes.

Dr. Tarr congratulated the official body for its fine work accomplished during the year and expressed the hope that the work will continue through the coming year.

Following the report of the nominating committee the meeting closed with the benediction by the Rev. Mr. Peckham.

answer to a C.I.O. United Auto Workers demand for a price cut to go with the wage reduction.

The union had accepted the wage cut as an "indication of falling prices and proposed that GM, follow through by cutting its car prices.

"The only previous postwar price cut in the auto industry was Ford's two years ago.

Ford reduced prices $15 to $50 Jan. 15, 1947. Ford described the cut as an effort to halt an inflation spiral. Subsequent price increases at Ford, however, more than wiped out the reduction.

Earlier this week, Chrysler hiked its prices 6.66 per cent.

General Motors makes Cadillac, Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile and Buick passenger cars. The price reductions on these cars, GM said, will be announced individually later.

The GMC truck and coach divisions will announce truck price reductions separately.

Sass' Shot Sinks Clinton, 58-56

Frank Sass' brilliant set shot—a 42-foot beauty in the final seconds of play—enabled the 7th Ward to nose out the Governor Clinton Hotel, 58-56, last night in a Y.M.C.A. League thriller on the Y court.

With 15 seconds left to play and the clubs deadlocked at 56-56, Dave Lindsay of Clintons tried a set shot from the center of the floor but missed.

7th Ward recovered and came downcourt with seven seconds remaining after taking a jump ball. Sass dribbled over the ten second line, took a quick look at the clock and cut loose with his big heftin'. It swished through beautifully almost simultaneously with the final buzzer.

Danny Busch and Charlie Marable emerged as individual leaders in a game of wide open shooting. Busch sparked the Warriors with 24 points on an even dozen deuces, while Marable hit for 21 for the losers. Barnes and Sass had 13 and 11 respectively for 7th Ward. C. Fitzgerald tossed in 11 for the Clintons.

Now It's Veeck's Turn to Get Mad

Cleveland, Feb. 25 (AP)—The New York Yankees have signed a 23-year-old Negro outfielder on whom the Cleveland Indians hold an option, Tribe President Bill Veeck claimed last night.

Veeck said the Yankees signed Luis Marquez, formerly with Homestead (Pa.) Grays although a 120-day option Veeck obtained on Marquez from the Homestead club's business manager is still in effect.

General Manager George Wis of the Yankees announced several weeks ago that his club had signed Marquez.

"We want Marquez," Veeck added. "He's a real good ball player. He's young, he's fast and he can really powder that ball. I'll turn the facts of the case over to (Baseball Commissioner A. B.) Chandler next Monday."

S. H. Posey, business manager of the Homestead club, conferred with Veeck here last night. They agreed that a 120-day option on Marquez they had signed in Chicago last Nov. 25 was still in force. It is believed to carry a $10,000 purchase price.

"It appears they (the Yankees) signed Marquez not only without compensation, but without even notifying us," Posey said.

Areas Are Re-defined

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25 (AP)—The State Agriculture Department has re-defined the milk marketing areas in which licensed milk dealers and peddlers may operate. The selling areas will be defined by the boundaries of cities, incorporated villages or parts of towns which do not include any villages or cities. Commissioner C. Chester DuMont announced yesterday. The change is effective April 1. Previously dealers and peddlers were licensed to serve parts of towns and communities. This system, DuMont said, made it "almost impossible to set a workable boundary."

Po'keepsie Hitch-Hiker Escapes Death in Crash

Gretna, Va., Feb. 25 (AP) — A Georgia man was killed and a hitch-hiker and another person were injured in an automobile-truck collision on U. S. Route 20 five miles north of here yesterday. Two other persons were injured.
Driver of the car, identified by State Trooper W. P. Linden as Martin B. White, 32, of Calhoun, Ga., died of chest injuries received when the vehicle swerved out of control into the path of the heavy truck.
Owner of the car, Tom E. Johnson, also of Calhoun, was taken to Piedmont General Hospital, Atlanta, Va., with a triple fracture of the left thigh and other injuries. Although hospital attendants described his condition as "better," his leg may have to be amputated, they said.
The hitch-hiker in the car, Charles Whitney, 25, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., riding with the driver in the front seat, received only cuts and bruises. He was released after treatment.
According to the state trooper's report, the car was hurled to the edge of a 30-foot embankment where it halted and hung over. He described the vehicle as "completely demolished."
Linden quoted the truck driver, Richard E. Sites, 28, of Route 2, Lynchburg, who escaped injury, as saying the car was turning over when the collision occurred.

Read the Bidding To Help the Play

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service
We used to tell John Weil, one of New York's outstanding bridge players, that he was the smallest man in the Army. We thought he was at least one and a half inches under the legal height. When he sent us a picture from North Africa with his gun beside him, it looked as if he were leaning against a telegraph post.
I am always interested in finding out what line of business our former service men have taken up. Weil now has a little chain of shoe stores known as the Marc Shops, two of them in Newark, N. J., and one in Palisades Park. He still likes to play tournament bridge and he can always be counted upon to find the correct play, as he did in today's hand.
The king of hearts was opened, and when it held, North shifted to the small spade, declarer winning with the jack. A heart was ruffed in dummy, and now there was a problem.

Declarer knew from the bidding that North did not have any diamonds because South would not have bid three diamonds without a six-card suit. Therefore he had to come off the board with a club. Weil led the three of clubs, and when South played the deuce, he put on the ace from his own hand. North dropped the nine-spot. Weil then ruffed his last heart in dummy.
He knew that if South got into the lead, a diamond would come back and it would be ruffed. He realized also from the bidding that North must have the king and queen of clubs, so at this point Weil led dummy's jack of clubs. North won the trick, and there was no play now that would defeat the contract.
Weil and carefully led the six of clubs from dummy. South would have played the seven and North would have put on the five-spot to let South hold the trick. Then a diamond lead would have beaten the hand.

Will Ask 4th Round
Chicago, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Communication Workers of America will ask a fourth round of wage increases for its 200,000 independent union members, says Joseph A. Beirne. The amount of the demands to be made on the nation's telephone industry, Beirne said, will be determined at the C.W.A.'s national convention in Chicago June 12. He said the C.W.A. will poll its members in March and April on a proposed membership affiliation with the C.I.O. He said the A.F.L. had asked that it be withdrawn from the ballot and the C.W.A.'s executive board had recommended affiliation with the C.I.O.

Cart Has Three Dog-Power

In Rome, gasoline is so high-priced that this junk dealer switched to dog-powered transportation. To meet regulations, he had to fit a hand brake to his cart. It works fine—as long as no cats come along. (Photo by NEA-Acme staff correspondent Toni Calone.)

Will Be Given Hearing

Beverly Hills, Calif., Feb. 25 (AP) — Betty Ritchie, Canadian girl friend of Gerard G. Dennis, is scheduled to face preliminary hearing today on charges of receiving stolen property. Dennis is in custody at White Plains, N. Y., in connection with extensive jewel thefts. Miss Ritchie, 24-year-old former Toronto school teacher, also faces deportation action. She was arrested in Dennis' apartment here, where a cache of gems valued at $100,000 was found. Meanwhile, police cleared Julius Bruck, 24, jeweler, of all charges. Bruck, who lived in an adjacent apartment, had been held on suspicion of selling stolen gems.
